WHAT PRESIDENT LOW SAID.

Mr. Choate was followed by Seth Low, who

Mr. Chairman and Fellow-Citizens: The issue at stake in the present election seems as grave as ever confronted the city. I fail to comprehend how ony one can be indifferent about it, or how any friends of good government can have felt themselves justined in confusing the issue. The stuation is not so dramatic as last year, but the issue is the same. A year ago Tammany was defeated at the polis by an aroused and an indignant people. This year Tammany is taking an appeal against the rightfulness of that Judgment. It is doing so both explicitly and implicitly. Explicitly, in that it has placed in nomination two of the candidates for Justice of the Supreme Court who were rejected by the city a year ago, and implicitly, because neither by word nor by deed has Tammany Hall admitted that its overthrow of last year was deserved. You have only to examine the Tammany nominations at large in order to perceive that Tammany's attitude to-day is a reflection of Tweed's old question, "What are you going to do about it?" Mr. Chairman and Fellow-Citizens: The issue cause through the enforcement of the excise law wives and children were again provided with food and their homes made happier. Re-form had cleaned and repaired the streets, had made an orderly Sunday, and it could not be that the sons of toil from every land across the sea who had come here to dwell would sell these great blessings for a glass of rum. The battle-cry should be: "Down with corruption! Face the enemy! Close ranks! The tiger is in his lair, and the forces of corruption are gather-ing again to seize the public by the throat!"

nominations at large in order to perceive that Tammany's attitude to-day is a reflection of Tweed's old question, "What are you going to do about it?"

Tammany is in no sense a representative organization. The recent resignation of Mr. Edward Bell from the Executive Committee of Tammany Hail is unimpeachable testimony from the inside. You have only to read the extracts from the minutes of the Dock Department under Tammany to perceive how even laborers were obliged to have the recommendation of some Tammany magnate in order to set employment in the department, and that such a recommendation sufficed to secure appointment for scandalously unfit men.

If Tammany is successful this year, every man knows that the consequence will be an immense increase of the prestige and influence of the leaders of Tammany. Are you prepared, as a result of this election, to strengthen the hands of the present leadership of Tammany Hail? A year ago the city undoubtedly was shaken to its centre by the disgraceful reversitions made through the investigation of the Police Department. In place of a police force which, a year ago, was enriching itself by sharing in the profits of vice and by levying indiscriminate blackmail, we have now a Police Department that is altacked, indeed; but attacked only as an incident of its vigorous enforcement of a single law, I risk nothing in saying that if the present Police Commissioners had compelled only the poor and weak to obey the law, there would have been far less outcry. But, because the law has been rigorously enforced against strong and weak allike, we have a side issue to contend with which springs in reality out of the character of the law more than out of either the fact or the manner of its enforcement. Put a law upon the statute books and give the authorities permission to administer it unequally and at their pleasure, and you have converted at one stroke that which ought to be the safeguard of your liberties into the most frightful instrument of oppression. Are any of our people prepare The next speaker was Joseph H. Choate, The moment the audience became his presence there were cheers from all parts of the house, and Mr. Choate was not allowed to proceed until those cheers were Mr. Choate said in substance.

Cuesday morning at sunrise I intend to cast eth successive vote against Tammany Hall, by year in all that time that solitary vote to backed up by the power and prestige of a purposes of the Republican party to belong. THE RESOLUTIONS.

When the applause which followed Mr. Low's remarks subsided. Mr. Rhoades read the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

whether they are ready to go back on it. (Cries of whether they are ready to go back on it. (Cries of No., no.")

It is not too much to say that when Mayor Strong can be not controlled the city was racking with corruption. Well, the Legislature gave him power for four, five and is well in a new man. Are you satisfied with the work he has done in that direction? (Cries of Yes.") A straw shows the way the wind blows and I want to show you something the Mayor has done that has not yet been commented upon. He has brought under the rules of the Civil Service the strate laboring force of the city, at least 7,600 men. What does that mean? Before that order was made of places as an emissary of Tammany Hall. Now, a summitting himself to the Civil Service examination a ministry of Tammany Hall. Now, a summitting himself to the Civil Service examination it would have been done.

He appointed the Police Commissioners, with Mr. Hoosevelt at their head. (Cheers.) Mr. Roosevelt has done his duty, and there has been more clamer to over that fact, than there has been more clamer over that fact, than there has been more damer over that fact, than there has been more damer over that fact, than there has been more damer over that fact, than there has been more along the watched very carefully to see what points his enewatched very carefully to see what point exhibited him as showing his teeth. (Appause and tries of "that's the man we want.")

Yes, that is exactly the man we want for the daties his office requires. He does show his teeth and every man in the force, from the inspector to the patrolman, is afraid of him. He also shows his teeth to the breakers of the law, and they have put their shutters, locked their sidedoors, and go to churth. (Laughter and applause.) idabout ways were necessary they should no roundabout ways were accessary they should not be despised. If political organizations should work and vote only with those whose thoughts were identical with their own they would cut a werk and vote only with those whose thoughts were identical with their own they would cut a very small figure at the polis. The speaker did not think it a great sin to make concessions for the accomplishment of great public benefits. Abraham Lincoln gathered in all elements and saved the Union. He made concessions and wrought great public good. It would be wise for the Good Government clubs in this election to pursue a similar course in order to secure the great public benefit which is sought to be accomplished by the election of the Fusion ticket. Political bosses had been accustomed to play into each others hands, but if one should be killed their game would be up. The overfrow of Tammany would be a blow at all bossism and political corruption. six months, while there has been a decrease of 37 per cent in the arrests for assault. Now, what do you say to the reform in the administration of criminal instice? I believe that the changes which have been introduced in this direction have been one of the greatest blessings conferred upon the people by last year's triumph. (Applause:) Now, we you for Tammany Hallor are you against it? That's the only question for you to consider between now and Tuesday next. But I have no fear. I don't believe that this city is to be bunded over again to that gang from whom it was rescued last year. The whole people of this city, of this great Nation, nayof all the civilized countries, are looking on and awaiting the result. They have said that per cent in the arrests for assault. Now, what political corruption.

MR. PECKHAM'S SPEECH. Wheeler H. Peckham was then introduced.

In the course of his speech he said:

I read in a paper this afternoon this fact—that I was to represent the Independent Democrats here this evening, and that gives me hope. It may not be hard for my friend, Mr. Choate, to cast his vote against Tammany Hall when he has voted against it so long, but when I do so I vote against my own party. 'pplause.') Every man, if he wants to amount to anything in this life, must sometimes join forces with others. There should be parties within parties—municipal, State and National—on various questions, and they can not always be in harmony. This isn't the first battle we've had against Tammany Hall. The first battle, some time ago, resuited in the overthrow of Tammany Hall, and it wouldn't stay overthrown. If Tammany returns to power this year she will return to her old methods. In the course of his speech he said:

He had also been at another large meeting at Walhalla Hall, which was well named, for the had never heard such "hollerin" in his life. If the Republicans of Murray Hill would go down to such meetings they would say "God bless the East Side." The recent and prospective issue of city bonds and the new tax rate were the result of Tammany misrule, which had permitted public works and buildings to fall into decay in order for political purposes, to keep down the tax rate. Almshouses, insane asylums and prisons had been neglected, and were overcrowded, and 50,000 children had been kept out of school because negiected, and were overcrowded, and 50,000 children had been kept out of school because the Tammany administrations would not appropriate money to provide necessary accommodations for them. THE MAYOR ON THE ISSUES.

HE ADDRESSES A GREAT MASS-MEETING IN NEW IRVING HALL.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION-COLONEL STRONG DISCUSSES HIS ADMINISTRATION, THE CITY'S

> EXPENSES AND THE LEGACIES OF TAMMANY RULE.

The neighborhood of New Irving Hall, No. 216 Broome-st., was the scene of great enthusiasm when a crowded mass-meeting was held in the hall under the management of the Republican Club of the City of New-York. Colonel Charles H. Denison, vice-president of the organization presided, supported by a long list of vice-presi dents and secretaries. At $:05 o'clock the sound of martial music was heard in the street, and up the stairs, behind the musicians, marched the Young Men's Republican Club of No. 119 Orchard-st. The beautiful white, blue and gold banner of the club was unfurled from the rostrum behind the speakers, while fireworks made the street outside as light as day. The followers of the club filed in after them and filled the hall until there was danger of an overflow. Then for a few minutes there was a lull, which was broken in upon by the band with the familiar, "See, the Conquering Here Comes." This meant the arrival of Mayor Strong, and in an instant the audience had risen to the seats of the chairs to give adequate expression to its feelings. The Mayor was more pleased over than he was with the results of the Mount Vernon baseball game, and showed it in a broad smile. Israel Ellis, the president of the Young Men's Republican Club, introduced Adelbert H. Steele as the chairman in the absence of Colonel Denison, who arrived later and assumed control. Mr. St introduced the Mayor without preliminary remarks. except to explain that Colonel Strong had two other meetings awaiting his attention in other parts The Mayor said that while he felt grateful for the hearty reception given him by willing hearts in the vast audience, he felt still more grateful for the knowledge that there were hearts and hands equally willing to labor for the success of the Union ticket to be elected this year. It was not a political ticket in the restricted sense, for the reason that no man on it would be indebted to any one man or set of men for his election. No man will be able to say, asserted the Mayor, that he knows any Judge on that ticket and declare his dictation of party, and we can afford to vote for such men. For the ticket on the other side he had such men. For the ticket on the other side he had nothing to say. It might be very well for a ticket, but it came from Tammany, and his hearors knew that Tammany always held a string to its nominees. He cited the old Dock Board as a case in point of Tammany domination. He referred to his own administration in a semi-humorous way, remarking that it had made some enemies because of its independence. Then he turned to the expenses of the administration, saying that a good deal will be heard regarding the matter within the very for days. He gave the estimates placed bements. When the cheering subsidied he continued:

Hensey contends that the registration law does not require the voter to answer any questions regarding his age, height, weight, color of hair, visible marks on face, etc. On October 26 Hensey applied to the inspectors of election of the district where he resides for registration. He gave his name, residence, floor upon which he lived, and necessary information regarding the time he had lived in the election district, county and State. When the in-spectors asked his age, he stated that he was of legal age, and declined to specify the exact number of years; the inspectors thereupon refused to register

Hensey, wishing to make a test case of the matter, has begun proceedings to compel the Board to convone and register him.

If the Roard is compelled to register the plaintiff, it will qualify as voters a targe number of persons who refused to answer the questions. It is estimated that several thousand voters were refused registration on that account.

JOSEPH H. CHOATE INDORSES PINNEY Joseph H. Choate has sent the following letter to the Good Government Club of Richmond County concerning George M. Pinney, jr., candidate for District-Attorney on the Republican and Independent Democratic tickets:

I desire to say in regard to George M. Pinney, jr., candidate for District Attorney in your county, that from a long personal and professional acquaintance with him I know him to be admirably qualified for that office. Mr. Pinney is a first-rate lawyer, and has for some time had a valuable practice, which he still retains. I consider it a great gain for the county when a man like him accepts a nomination for a county office. He is possessed of the most un-

ent Democratic tickets:

TAMMANY TRICK IN XXIIID DISTRICT. WORKING FOR AN "INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN"

An insidious attempt by Tammany Hall to imperil the election of George L. Curtiss, the ener-getic young business man who is the Republican candidate for the Assembly in the XXIIId Assembly District, is made under the guise of an inde-pendent Republican candidacy. John M. Delmour, the Tammany candidate, is a particular favorite with the Croker ring, owing to his relationship to 'Larry" Delmour, the representative in this country of the Tammany boss during his long absence abroad. No effort is spared to aid this favored candidate of the boss. A colored man, Omie W. Murray, has been nominated by an organization a few members of his race, as an "Independent" Republican candidate. Mr. Murray is in no senso a representative of the colored men, and his candidacy is repudiated by the intelligent men of his race in the district, who desire Republican success. The principal supporters of the candidate, are, it is said, men who have unsuccessfully sought large pecuniary contributions from Republican candidates in the past. Their present action is of assistance only to Tammany Hall, and it is believed that that organization has contributed liberally to some of those who are active in Mr. Murray's behalf. Several representative colored men have openly denounced the "Independent" candidate. Every Republican vote for Mr. Curtiss is important in view of the necessity of having a Republican legislature this year. No criticism of the character or Republicanism of Mr. Curtiss has been made, and this attempt to imperil his election is strongly denounced by every opponent of Tammany Hall in a few members of his race, as an "Independent"

ROOSEVELT REPLIES TO FITCH. HE RELATES THE STORY OF THAT TALK ABOUT VOTES, AND REFERS AGAIN TO SCRIPTURE.

o the Editor of The Tribune: Sir: Controller Fitch has a very treacherous nemory. The conversation I quoted took place in the Mayor's room, where plenty of people were walking to and fro near us; it was in no way con fidential. Mr. Fitch said nothing about any party indorsing me. What he said was that my conduct in enforcing the law would prevent such a ticket as that which won last year from getting 30,000 votes this year. He did not allude in any way to any arrest for selling ice. The icemen are not his employers. What wrung his withers was the fact that we enforced the law against liquor-selling lawbreakers exactly as against other lawbreakers. To show that it is his, not my, memory which is at fault, I mention the fact that he specified the cases of some four saloon-keepers in his own district who had voted against Tammany last fall; but whom, nevertheless, we had arrested because they had violated the law. Mr. Fitch's comment on this really interested me, because it betrayed such fundamental incapacity to understand the fact that we were enforcing the law wholly without regard to the political affiliations or personal influence of lawbreakers. He mentioned incidentally that these men would undoubtedly hereafter vote for his (the Tammany) party, as they preferred to pay a few dollars blackmail and be permitted to pursue their trade illegally rather than be free from blackmail and also forced to obey the law. The Controller seemingly sympathized with their attitude; and such sympathy in a public officer who had taken his oath of office naturally attracted my attention. Controller Fitch is fond of texts from the lible. Let me cordially commend to him Exodus xx. 2 to 17. They contain the recital of certain archaic rules of conduct known as the Ten Commandments. MURPHY'S HOME DISTRICT

THE SITUATION IN RENNSELAER COUNTY. REPEATERS AND BALLOT-BOX STUFFERS HAVE NOT GOT THINGS THEIR OWN WAY THIS

Troy, Oct. 20.-Edward Murphy, jr., the junior United States Senator, through the adoption of the new Constitution of the State, has a Senate district of his own, composed solely of the county of Rensselaer. In the centre of this county there is situated the city of Troy, for many years Murphy's stronghold, and by virtue of the perfection of the arts of repeating, false counting and the manufacture of fraudulent election returns, a Democratic stronghold as well.

Senator Murphy, of course, is doing his utmost to elect a State Senator from the district. This is not because he loves David B. Hill, for they seem to have dissolved their political partnership, but because he thinks it would be a bad precedent for the Republicans to carry the district. Mr. Hill comes up for re-election as United States Senator in 1897, it is true, and the State Senator elected this fall will be one of those who will vote for air. Hill's successor; but then the term of Mr. Murphy himself as United States Senator expires in 1899, and therefore he thinks it to his interest to put the Senate district in the Democratic column this year. It perhaps may be well to state also that the Democratic politicians here say that Senator Murphy does not favor the return of David B. Hill to the United States Senate, but that his choice for that position in 1897 is Richard Croker. Senator Murphy, it has been observed, while conducting the present political campaign with all his old energy, has plainly attempted to keep out of sight. His last appearance here prominently in politics, was accompanied by an unfortunate circumstance. He had a candidate for Mayor in the person of Francis J. Molloy, and persuaded Governor Flower to veto a bill granting the Republican party an equal number of election inspectors with the Democratic party. This encouraged the Democratic repeaters, and one of them, "Bat" Shea, murdered Robert Ross, a Republican watcher who was attempting to guard the ballot-box. Shea has since been convicted of the murder and is now awaiting execution in Clinton Prison. But the men high in the ranks of the Democratic party, who were morally responsible for his crime have gone unpunished. Their retirement from public life will be but a small atonement for the death of Ross. Francis J. Molloy, the candidate of Murphy for Mayor at the time Shea murdered Ross, was "counted in" by the Democratic Inspectors of election. Now Murphy has once more nominated Molloy for Mayor. It will be remembered that Molloy as a delegate to the Democratic State Convention in September last opposed granting the Cleveland Democrats and Independent Democrats generally admittance to the convention. This action of his causes him harm to-day, since these classes of Democrats are now opposing him. But Murphy hopes to offset these votes with those of Murphy Republicans. He controls the street railways and the gas company of Troy, and has granted large blocks of the stock and bonds of these companies to some prominent Republicans. He also has a grip on two alleged Republican newspapers. By the treachery of Republicans, therefore, and not by the votes of Democrats, does Senator Murphy hope to re-elect Molloy as The Republicans have nominated Andrew H.

Church, a prominent citizen, for Mayor, and hope to elect him to that office. As might be expected, the Murphy Democrats are attempting to stuff the ballot-boxes of Troy with the votes of Democratic repeaters. Colonel Lee R. Chamberlain, former Deputy Secretary of Lee R. Chamberlain, former Deputy Secretary of State, consented this year to act as an election inspector, and by his efforts and those of Congressman Frank S. Black, the chairman of the Republican County Committee, the registration lists have been purged of the names of a good many Democratic repeaters. There is an alleged workingmen's home at Ferry and River sts. It is directly on a line between two wards of Troy. Repeaters, therefore, by occupying such a house, can register sometimes in two wards and vote in both. The "home" has ten rooms. An examination of the registration lists showed that sixty-three persons had registered from the building. The Republicans went to the courts and appealed to them to strike off the names of the repeaters from the registration rolls. The courts pealed to them to strike off the names of the re-peaters from the registration rolls. The courts have already reduced the number of names from sixty-three to thirty-eight, and probably will re-duce it to thirty-two. The vote of this "home," therefore, has been reduced nearly one-half. One result of this operation doubtless has been to frighten the repeaters. The registration has fallen off 300 votes in Troy, as compared with 1894, and two-thirds of this less has been suffered by the Democratic party.

and two-thirds of this less has been suffered by the Democratic party.

The Republicans have nominated Le Grand C. Tibbets, of Hoosic, for Senator, and he makes a strong candidate. He is a graduate of Union College, forty-five years of age, has had legislative experience as a member of the Board of Supervisors, and is popular personally. He is also well-known in Troy as the manager of the Tibbets estate. A straightforward man of business and democratic in manner, he is an excellent candidate for Senator, and the Republicans are becoming confident of electing him. Senator Murphy has selected as his candidate Barent W. Stryker, a lawyer, of Castleton, and hores to catch the rural vote for him. Mr. Stryker, however, is not a man of any prominence and has no elements of personal popularity which would make him a strong candidate for Senator.

In 1892 Cleveland carried Rensselaer County in 1892 Cleveland carried Rensselaer County by 1,213 piurality. Fraud in Troy gave most of this piurality. With honest election inspectors, named by Republicans, in Troy in 1894 the Re-publicans carried the county for Morton by

1,887 plurality.
Congressman Black said to-day: "I think we are going to elect Church as Mayor of Troy and Tibbets as Senator from the Rensselaer County."

The Republicans have three strong candidate for Assemblymen in Rensselaer County in the persons of Edward McGraw, Henry T. Nason and George Andesson. The Democrate by persons of Edward and Group I I have re-and George Andesson. The Democrats have re-nominated Assemblyman Norton. From pres-ent appearances the Republican party will elect two out of the three Assemblymen from this county. This was their proportion in the last

SELECTING WATCHERS FOR THE POLLS. The Advisory Committee of the Committee of Fifty had its usual session at the Gilsey House headquarters yesterday afternoon, and carefully considered the question of providing watchers at the polls in the interest of the Fusion ticket. After consulting with members of the Republican Campaign Committee it was decided to ask the Good Government clubs to furnish as many volunteer watchers as possible. At the Good Government headquarters last evening Mr. Klein said that the Campaign Committee, of which he was the chairman, would do everything in its power to secure watchers among the members of the Good Government clubs. While it might not be possible to get volunteer watchers for all of the polling-places in the city, he said, there was every polling-places in the city, he said, there was every reason to hope that members of the clubs would volunteer for the service in such numbers that most of the election districts in the lower part of the city could be supplied.

Cornelius Van Cott, the chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, said that there would be Republican watchers at the polls in most of the election districts, and they would co-operate with the Good Government Club men.

THE SECOND VICTIM IN FOUR MONTHS,

New-Haven, Oct. 30 .- William Lextion, employed in the fulminate-mixture department of chester Repeating Arms Company, was blown to pieces and instantly killed this morning by an explosion. This is the second fatal explosion in this department in four months. Lextion succeeded Jeremiah Splain, who was blown to pieces by similar accident in June. Lextion got the situation—which, owing to the personal risk taken, I remunerative, and is eagerly sought for by the workingmen—because he was a single man, the company not desiring to place a married man is such a place. Lettion, however, was married about a month ago, and he leaves a widow.

It was found at a caucus of representatives of different gas companies in the gas belt to-day that three-fourths of the mains are above ground and that they measure several thousand miles. A pool was formed, and the case will be taken to court, if it comes to an issue. A conservative estimate places the money that would have to be expended at $200,000 to $400,000.

doubted courage and tenacity of purpose, and as a prosecuting officer these qualities, combined with his professional experience and skill, would make him always efficient and formidable to wrongdoers, while his high personal character and sense of justice would secure the people of the county against any abuse of the great power and discretion vested in the District Attorney. I am delighted to hear that the Good Government Club is pressing his canvass, and trust that he may be elected by a large majority.

Overwork and mental anxiety weaken and relax it, and there is no more reliable means of bracing it and restoring nerve quietude, than by reinforcing digestion and promoting as-similation of the food—two effects always consequent upon the use of the groat stomachic.
